Be the Boss! Entrepreneurship Conference Elevator Pitch Competition

Wednesday, February 27, 2008

Have you ever thought you had a great idea for a business? Is it about time that Business Week, INC.com magazine, and Entrepreneur.com listed YOU as their next up and coming success story? Yes it is! And there's no better time than today to get that business started!

One of the most important business tools you can have in your arsenal is a great elevator pitch. An elevator pitch is a concise, carefully planned and well-rehearsed description of what your business does, who your market is and how you differ from your competition.

Make that first step to starting your business today by creating your business' elevator pitch and testing it out on us! The best part is that not only will you have an opportunity to practice your pitch, you'll also receive feedback from established entrepreneurs and business development professionals as well as have the chance to win free business workshops, business assistance tools and dinner with the experts!

Submit your idea today!

To register click here: www.ideabounce.com/post_1.php. Make sure to click the box next to Columbus State CC under the Programs section of the submission form or your idea will not be registered to this competition.

Good Luck and we'll see you on February 27th!!
